CITIZENS' COMMITTEE CALLS ON SCHOOL BOARD

DEMANDING TEACHING OF GERMAN BE ENDED.

Delegation From Liberty Loan Luncheon Hold Warm Session—Action Is Deferred.

There was a snappy meeting for two hours at the office of the board of education at the high school building yesterday afternoon.

At times during the meeting, the remarks which flew across the table fairly sizzled, but later in the session, all the men present got down to a better understanding.

The committee had asked President Jesse Hoffman of the school board to call a special meeting of that body at 3 o'clock to meet the committee, and nearly all the members of the board were present.

S C Deaver, chairman of the citizens' committee, made a short talk at the opening of the session, stating that the meeting of Liberty loan workers had appointed this committee to voice a protest against the further teaching of German in the high school.

Members Make Talks. During the course of the meeting nearly every member of the committee made remarks expressing his views. C. B. Hughes was the first speaker. He said that the American people are awakening to the fact that the perpetuation of the German language is part of the grand scheme of the German rulers to get a grasp upon the affairs of this nation as a part of their world-wide domination schemes.

Judge Homer W. Hall spoke in accord with others of Mr. Deaver's presentation of the reason for the committee's coming, and stated that it is the deep-set purpose of the men at the noon meeting, representing the sentiment of the citizens, that immediate action be taken.

Mr. Bach Talks. William R. Bach said that when he was sent to school, his father, who was a native of Germany, told him that he (the son) might study Latin, but not German; that the German language was left behind when the father came to America.

In insisting emphatically upon the immediate action by the school board abolishing German, Mr. Bach aroused the hitherto latent repartee of President Hoffman of the school board, who stated that the committee had come to demand something without first inquiring into the status of the matter.

Mayor Jones Speaks. Mayor Jones made a few remarks stating that while teaching German may have been borne with indifference by citizens a few years ago or a few months ago, everything is changed since March 21, when the Germans began their last desperate battle for the overpowering of the world.

John J. Normile made one of the shortest but one of the most pointed talks of the afternoon. He said year's unit of work is thirty-six weeks, or nine school months, and if two months of this time are dropped the student gets no credit for his seven months' service.

President Hoffman stated that the board had virtually entered into a contract with the young people that if they would do such studying they should have the credit due them.

Mr. Bent read a letter from H. A. Hollister of the University of Illinois stating that no credit could be given students for seven months of German study unless they completed the full unit, or nine months.

Not a Law Unto itself. Principal Wallis, of the high school, was called upon to explain the relations of this high school to others and to the colleges of the country.

Members of the committee replied to the statements of the board that they believed arbitrary action of this kind, instantly abolishing German in even if the stopping of German involves some little sacrifice and inconvenience on the part of a few students of the school who might lose their credits and thus forfeit the right of admission to a university, how very small a sacrifice is this compared to what other young men are making.

IRA S. WHITMER also re-enforced the remarks of the other speakers along these lines, and gave several additional reasons for such action.

The reasons set forth by members of the board for any hesitancy in acceding to the committee's request was the fear that the work of students who have put in seven months this year in studying German may be nullified, and they will forfeit a whole year's credit and some of them perhaps be barred from graduation.
